wife who is better at managing the money. When such is the case the husband should be happy to let her do it.

What some men can't get through their thick skulls is this: There's nothing unmanly about handing over a paycheck to a wife who can stretch it further than he can throw it.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me how to fall out of love with my husband. We have been married 15 years.

Harvey is cold and unaffectionate. He actually pushes me away when I try to kiss him. I can't remember the last time we had a conversation. He only speaks to me when he has something to criticize.

He spends money lavishly on himself but I have to account for every penny. Harvey is rude to me in public and embarrasses me with his critical remarks in front of my family and friends. Yet I adore him.

If I could just stop loving him so much life would be tolerable.

Can you help me —SLAVE TO LOVE

Dear Slave: Some women thrive on abuse and get satisfaction from being mistreated. If a man showed such a woman with kindness and consideration she would not care for him.

Of course this is a sick approach to love which goes way back to childhood. Years of therapy would be required to straighten out such a personality problem.

It certainly is too big a job to attempt by a single letter. Get help.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANY LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. © 1962, Field Enterprises, Inc.
